The making of America Through Immigration: A look at the very beginning and how these early immigrants formed America as we know it today. Available in long or abridged versions. Ask for more information.

Southern Colonies and the Revolutionary War: A story of how the Southern States helped win the war for independence.

A Girl Named Sarah: A family history, a baby born and the impact that baby would have on the founding of our nation.

Lock Em Up and Let Em Out: A look at the Old English Bailey Court system and how the court was used to people the Colonies.

Southern Root/ Deep Roots: An overview of Genealogy in the south and hints that might help knock down your southern brick walls. We look at all the southern states and even 2 or 3 that only think they are southern WISE Folk in the Colonial South: This program looks at where the Welsh, Irish, Scottish, and English settle in the colonies and WHY.

Welsh Myths: Any country that has a Dragon on their flag must have myths. From Gwili the Welsh Dragon to King Arthur and his round table, we are going to take a lighthearted journey back in time to see what truths these myths might have.

Papa's Bible: There is more to this family bible than the dates in front. The information that changed the way I looked at my family.

Union Strongholds in a Confederate South: We are going to root out these places in the south where the Northern influence was strong and why they chose to honor the union.

Revolutionary Women: From Molly Pitcher to Betsy Ross. We are going to look at the Women of the Revolutionary War and the impact these strong, brave, and daring individuals contributed more than just keeping the home fires burning.
